Three simple steps to hassle-free remittance to India

Step 1 - Register yourself (one time activity and available only to UK resident Individuals) :

To get started, you need to register (only once) by going online to our website 'www.bankofbarodauk.com' then Click Funds2India log in and then New User.

You need to print these 2 forms and sign at appropriate places. You may note that the telecommunication mandate needs to be witnessed by a person known to you.

If you are submitting copies of Passport then photo page, signature page, valid VISA and address page, if any, be submitted. Also take copies of latest utility bill (mobile bill not accepted)/Bank statement not dated more than 3 months old. You need to self certify all these copies as true copy.

Please send to below mentioned address by recorded delivery the RID form, telecommunication mandate form duly signed and completed along with self certified copies of KYC documents as above, quoting your reference ID as received by you in the e-mail sent by us :

Once we receive all the above documents in order we would be activating your ID and information to that effect will be sent to your registered e-mail address.

Step 2 - Remit funds online

When you want to remit funds to India you should first check our exchange rates as available on our website "www.bankofbarodauk.com" and then the GBP funds from your own personal bank account with any UK Bank other than Bank of Baroda may be transferred by one of the following payment methods:

Method 1

Pay through BACS/internet banking

You may use internet banking facilities offered by your existing bank (other than Bank of Baroda) with following details and send funds to us for remittance to India. Most of the banks do not charge for this facility, however please check with your bank.

Account name: CF2I

Account number: 92001149

Sort code: 60 93 71

Please quote your remitter ID in the reference field.

(Funds should be received at our London Main Office in 2-3 working days time)

Method 2

Pay through CHAPS

For quicker remittance, you may also send funds through CHAPS from your own personal bank account with any UK Bank other than Bank of Baroda using the following details:

Account name: CF2I

Account number: 92001149

CHAPS sort code: 60 93 71

Bank branch name: Bank of Baroda, London Main Office

Please quote your remitter ID in the reference field.

You may note that your bank may charge you for CHAPS payments.

Step 3 - Send beneficiary details by logging on to your CF2I account

Once you have made the payment through any of the above methods, you just need to immediately log in to your Click Funds2India online log in account and complete the Add Beneficiary Details. It may be noted that beneficiary can only be an Individual and trade or charity related payments are not permissible. All fields marked with * are mandatory and the exchange rate applicable is updated on the log in page.

You may also note that exchange rate applicable will be the exchange rate as updated on CF2I log in page on the date and time of your completing the Beneficiary details online and MUST ensure to log in beneficiary detail immediately after transferring fund. If we find wide variance between logging beneficiary details date and time and actual receipt of funds by us we may not proceed with the remittance and return back the fund after deducting our Handling Charge of £1.00.

Once you submit the beneficiary details your CF2I account will show the remittance details with Status as 'Funds Awaited'.

You may also note that if we do not receive the funds within 3 working days of your logging the beneficiary details or the fund is not originated from your own personal account the Bank would be returning back the fund by BACS to the account from where the money has originally come after debiting our handling charge of £1.00. If there is any other problem the Baroda CF2I team will try to contact you to clarify and till such time the funds remitted to us would be withheld at your risk and responsibility.

Upon receipt of funds and once the remittance has been effected by us you would get an acknowledgement e-mail from us and also your CF2I account will be updated with status 'Remittance effected'.

You may note that the beneficiaries account in India gets credited within ONE working day (simultaneously both here in U.K. and in Mumbai, India) from the date of Remittance being effected by us.
